

If you're looking for another useful, one-click file hosting service, then you should definitely check out Bayfiles. This is a web ap p
similar to MegaUpload
and Rapidshare
, allowing you to upload, share, and download files in just a few clicks. Bayfiles offers unregistered users an upload limit of 250MB per file, while registered users get as much as 500MB file size. Premium service, which is paid, allows an upload of up to 5GB per file. There are three plans for premium users, $7 for a month, $35 for six months and $65 for a year. Furthermore, it has a simple interface and also provides you with HTML and Forum links, which you can use on your blog or website.

You can easily use Bayfiles without signing up for it, but it offers you more features once you're logged on. To begin, click Browse to search for files in your local system, select the ones you want to share, and hit Upload.

The screenshot shows the Bayfiles website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the text "Signed in as zainab", "Your files", "Your account", and "Sign out". Below this is the Bayfiles logo and navigation buttons for "UPLOAD" and "PREMIUM". On the left side, there is a sidebar menu with options: "My Files", "My Account", "Terms Of Service", "Privacy Policy", and "Contact us". The main content area is titled "My Files" and shows "1 files / 12". It includes a table with columns for "Name", "Size", and "Uploaded". The table contains one entry: "1280_1024_nature_wallpaper_.jpg" with a size of "127.07 KB" and an upload date of "2011-11-16". Below the table, there are links for "Link to the download page", "HTML link", and "Forum link", each with a corresponding URL. At the bottom of the table, there is a pagination control showing "1".

Visit Bayfiles on the right sidebar to learn more about this service and how to use it for personal storage. Related Articles:
