

Popbuzz.me is a news aggregator that organizes and displays Google News feed in a Facebook-like timeline. The interface comes with multiple categories such as Entertainment, Technology, Business, Sports and more. It also ranks news into different groups, such as All

Good

Great

Awesome

, so that you can filter out unpopular items and read your favorite content. Popbuzz.me uses a social filter that sorts the news based on the number of Facebook likes, tweets and Diggs. It basically takes the buzz from across the web and provides you with a better way to discover some interesting news, without having you to spend long hours on multiple news websites.

While Facebook's timeline may be loathed for a social experience (and rightly so), it serves pretty good for a new service. Popbuzz shows multiple categories at the top of the page, such as World, Business, Entertainment and Technology. You will also be able to filter news by four different options, which include All, Good, Great and Awe esome.

In addition to that, the app integrates
